Discover the Gard

In the south of France, between Provence, Languedoc, the Cévennes and the Camargue, the Gard is a multi-faceted region with a rich cultural and natural heritage. This region promises a unique and 100% authentic getaway.

Top 5 must-have

La Camargue Gardoise

Nicknamed the Petite Camargue, the Camargue Gardoise, with its wild landscapes stretching as far as the eye can see, dotted with ponds and populated by horses, bulls, pink flamingos, herons and other migratory birds, is a dream come true for lovers of wide open spaces.

Le Pont du Gard

Listed as a UNESCO World Heritage Site, set off on an adventure on foot or by canoe to admire the exceptional ingenuity of the design of this national treasure.

Gastronomie, joute et fêtes traditionnelles

The Gard has great taste, and we'll prove it to you: fougasse d'Aigues-Mortes, wines* olive oil from Provence, fresh fish, shellfish and crustaceans to delight your taste buds and, abrivado, Camargue races and village festivals for the festivities, here the art of living rhymes with good food and good living.

Aigues-Mortes

One of the department's flagship towns, set off on an adventure between the ramparts and the salt marshes to enjoy a moment suspended in time, wandering through the narrow streets populated by local craftsmen.

Plage de l'Espiguette

Unique in Europe, recharge your batteries on the vastness of the wild Espiguette dunes. A favourite spot for nature lovers, its stretches of white sand and turquoise water will appeal to young and old alike.
